

A Unified Business World Calls for High-Performance Communications

Whether your customers need a communications server and desk phones or cordless calling in the cloud—Jenne and Panasonic deliver the right connections to empower businesses of any size with the perfect solution.

About Panasonic

Panasonic is a global leader in Unified Communications (UC) solutions—including SIP phones, premise-based communication servers, applications, DECT cordless solutions and more—with over 30 years of experience manufacturing communications products.

Vertical Solutions

Panasonic vertical solutions are designed to support multiple industry sectors by providing intelligent technologies and continuous process improvements.

Retail

Whether your customers have a small store, chain store or a large shopping center to manage, streamlined communications with their staff and partners are vital. Panasonic's unified communication solutions provide them the freedom to communicate where ever they are, ensuring they are always available.

Education

Panasonic's telecommunication tools support teachers, and administrative and maintenance staff when they're on the move, and allow all-area paging from anywhere at any time.

From the smallest classroom to the largest lecture hall, Panasonic is keeping pace with technology for education establishments wanting to attract students and achieve academic success.

Senior Living

A safe, comfortable and well-managed environment provides the backdrop to a high performing care home. Panasonic's specialized care solutions give your customers the ideal support in ensuring their residents, staff and visitors experience the reassurance and professionalism they expect of their establishment.

Panasonic healthcare communication solutions can manage staff presence, mobility, alarming and call centers easily and securely.
